Carefully screened. Thoroughly trained. Highly vigilant.

USSC agents are a powerful line of defense against retail loss — while serving as outstanding ambassadors of your brand.

USSC agents — uniformed or plainclothes — are handpicked and recruited from law enforcement and the military, and rank among the best in the industry. Professional, on point and vigilant — plus well-dressed, groomed and on time — our agents are not only screened for the best fit for you and your organization, each is also trained to operate in a loss-prevention environment.
Our agents never forget that, while in your store, they’re representing your brand. They’re discriminating — trained to know who to stop, when to take action, how to be discrete. They know state-specific statutes regarding apprehension of suspected transgressors and they’re able to testify in court cases when needed.

USSC agents can work independently or in concert with your own loss-prevention staff. Our agents are trained to assist in the full range of loss-prevention tasks from apprehension to trial.

Higher standards of customer service, too. Our agents keep you apprised of all situations with clearly written reports available 24/7 on our online portal. An experienced USSC Field Manager acts as your point of contact, reports to you, and frequently checks on agents, conditions and store activity.
